A MODEL BUILDING IS GALLAUDET HOME.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE INSTITUTION AND DESCRIPTION OF THE BUILDING

Poughkeepsie Eagle, June 4.

On Wednesday, June 3, 1903, the Gallaudet Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf-Mutes was formally opened with appropriate ceremonies conducted under the management of Rev. Amos T. Ashton, of Hyde Park, Archdeacon of Dutchess, assisted by Rev. Francis B. Whitcome, of St. Paul's Church, Poughkeepsie; Rev. Dr. John Chamberlain, of New York, superintendent of the Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes; and Rev. W. G. W. Anthony, of St. Stephen's College, Annandale, Rev. Dr. A. P. Van Gieson, of the First Reformed Church, Poughkeepsie, also delivered an address.

The opening of the new building for the use of the Gallaudet Home for Deaf-Mutes, marks a date in the history of the peculiarly beautiful charity which it embodies, of special interest alike for its memories and for its promise. The day was the birthday of Rev. Thomas Gal-landet, where they could be taken care of. After many solicitations and much effort, he succeeded in interesting a sufficient number of charitable persons in the enterprise, and securing a moderate fund, with which a farm of one hundred and fifty-six acres was purchased extending from the road between Poughkeepsie and Newburgh to the bank of the Hudson River, very near where is the present station of Camelot.

Near the center of the farm, on a bluff commanding a charming view of the river to the southward, stood the substantial and commodious home of the former owner, constructed of stone from the immediate vicinity, with brick trimmings, and this was made available for the use of the Home. It was subsequently enlarged so as to very well suit the purpose of the institution, but on Sunday night, February 18th, 1900, it was destroyed by fire.

Fortunately all the inmates were safely removed, but the building itself and nearly all the furniture and other property contained in it were lost. The inmates were temporarily sheltered in the farm house

First story, in clear, is 12 feet high; 2d story, in clear, is 10 feet high; 3d story, in clear, is 9 feet high; central pavilion, or 4th story, is, in clear, 9 feet high.

All the floors are constructed of steel beams and girders, with flat arches between beams of fireproof concrete. All partitions are made of fireproof blocks, with the plastering put directly on the same. The ceilings are all plastered directly on the fireproof flat arches of the floor above same.

Staircases, one for men and one for women, and service stairs, are made of iron and slate encased in brick walls on each side of same.

There are two 40 horse power boilers in cellar, which furnish the steam to heat the building.

Every room in the Home is provided with a radiator.

The Home is provided with wiring for electric lighting, and also is piped for gas and provided with a gas machine for making gas.

The plumbing is a feature of the building, being the best and latest of its kind. It is without doubt the best and neatest piece of work in the county of Dutchess. The building besides being supplied throughout with fresh water from a large tank on the grounds, is provided with a special hot water boiler in the cellar which furnishes the bath rooms, kitchen, laundry and wash basins a constant supply of hot water.

The kitchen is well appointed, having a large French range, vegetable sink and dish washing sink, and an extra boiler for hot water heater by the range; also the butler pantry is well equipped with wash tray, closets, etc.

The building is divided into sections by cross walls of brick, which extend from the cellar to the roof, and where the corridors cross the fireproof walls there are fireproof doors, which are built to run in slots of fireproof partitions, and in case of fire occurring in any one section of the building the doors can be pulled out of their resting places and will cut off the corridors from the rest of the building. By the fireproof walls and fireproof doors the building is divided into five distinct sections.

The walls of the building are stone and brick. The entire building on the inside is trimmed with brown ash natural wood finish in hard oil. The floors are made of comb grain North Carolina pine, waxed finish. The floors are laid directly on sleepers embedded into the concrete arches forming the floors.

The walls and ceilings are all hard finished. The bath rooms and toilet rooms all have tile floors. Roofs of slate. There are 2 large cisterns for rain water. The building measures at the water table a perimeter of 460 feet around same.

The cubical contents of the building, including the cellar and spaces in attic, exclusive of the laundry, are 332,900 cubic feet.

The total cost of the building, including carpenter and mason work, gas plant, electric wiring, steam plant, complete, plumbing, mantels, gas fixtures and total extra work, is a trifle less than $75,000 dollars, which makes the building cost about 22 1/2 cents a cubic foot, which is a very low figure for a first class building of this kind. The dining room, which measures 26 feet wide by 40 feet long and 12 feet high, is a feature of the building. The design is of the Corinthian order, having pilasters on all sides with a rich cornice in plaster all around the room. The mantel of hard wood, was a special design made for the room. The grand reception hall contains a portrait of the late Dr. Gallaudet, which was saved from the fire that destroyed the old home. The picture is framed into the new hard wood mantel made to receive this portrait.

On the 2d floor are the infirmaries and special rooms, while on the third the spaces are all devoted to bed rooms; there are toilet and bath rooms on both floors, and there are extra toilet and bath room for the servants.

The building is also provided with two interior fire lines of water pipes with racks for fire hose on each floor.

There is a patent clothes dryer in the cellar, which is connected to the steam plant for drying clothes in wet weather.

Each bed room has a closet, and at least one window. There are no interior rooms.

All the rooms have handsome windows over the doors that give light and ventilation.

As above stated, the architect was Joseph M. Lawlor, of 220 Broadway New York. Contractor for construction work, C. L. Cannon, of this city, the mason work being done under sub-contract by the late Joseph I. Vail, also of this city.

The steam heating apparatus was put in by Edward P. Bates of Albany; the plumbing by Leonard D. Hosford, of 68 Beekman Street, New York; gas pipes and fixtures by Benjamin Trowbridge Son, of this city; electric wiring and interior telephones by Edwin R. Pease, of this city, and Springfield gas machine by the Gilbert and Barker Manufacturing Co., New York.

The Home is owned by The Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes, of which Bishop Henry C. Potter is, ex-officio, president, and Rev. Arthur H. Judge, of St. Matthew's Church, New York, and Mr. Edwin A. Hodgson are vice presidents. It is controlled by a board of twenty-five trustees, and its domestic management is in the hands of a board of Lady Managers, mostly living in this city and vicinity, of which Mrs. C. M. Nelson is president, and Mrs. R. F. Crary and Mrs. Warren S. Foster vice-presidents. The immediate business affairs of the Home are committed to a committee of four trustees and four lady managers, of which John I. Platt is chairman, the other members being George Wood, John N. Lewis and Edwin A. Hodgson, representing the trustees, and Mrs. C. M. Nelson, Mrs. Robert T. Clarkson, Mrs. D. Crosby Foster and Miss H. R. Jewett, representing the lady managers.

When the work of preparing for the new building was entered upon, a building committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. Dr. Gallaudet, E. A. Hodgson, George Wood, A. L. Willis, John I. Platt, Mrs. C. M. Nelson, Miss V. B. Gallaudet, Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Warren S. Foster and Mrs. Robert T. Clarkson. From these, three, Dr. Gallaudet and Messrs. Wood and Platt, were selected and empowered to perform all the executive duties, make contracts, purchase materials, employ men, and certify payments. Dr. Gallaudet's health, however, was so feeble that he was able only in part to do this work, and before it was finished he was taken to a higher and nobler round of duties in another sphere, and upon Messrs. Wood and Platt devolved the responsibility of its completion.

All who have been connected with it are entitled to high credit, and we doubt if, including the complete fireproof system of construction, there is another public eleemosynary institution that is more nearly perfect in all its plant and equipment in the world.

DEDICATION SERVICES OF GALLAUDET HOME.

The opening and dedicatory services of the Gallaudet Home were held in the little chapel which occupies the northwest corner of the new building. It is as yet unfurnished, but temporary seats had been provided, and it had been prepared for use by the guild of Zion Church, Wappingers Falls. The deaf-mute inmates were placed in the front, next the platform, and the remainder of the room was closely crowded by the lady managers and their friends.

At 11:30 Rev. Amos T. Ashton of Hyde Park, archdeacon of Dutchess, entered, followed by other members of the clergy, in their robes, and began a service after the impressive order of the Episcopal Church, but specially adapted to the occasion, and appropriate to the need and instruction of the deaf. He was assisted by Rev. Francis B. Whitcome, of St. Paul's, while Rev. Dr. Chamberlain stood beside the officiating ministers and interpreted all in the expressive sign language of the deaf. The service included the responsive recitation of the Psalm, "Except the Lord build the house, their labor is lost that build it," etc., and closed with the following dedicatory prayer:

"Almighty God, who fashionest the hearts of men and understandest all their works: We give Thee humble thanks that Thou hast moved Thy servants to erect this house as a refuge for homeless children of silence. Inspire our hearts, we pray Thee, with a humbling sense of our dependence upon Thee at all times and in all undertakings. Grant abiding success to the effort here made for the relief of distress. May the foundation of this institution rest upon Thy favor."

After the service Rev. Mr. Ashton appropriately referred to the life work of Dr. Gallaudet for the deaf, and paid an eloquent tribute to his memory. He then called upon Rev. Thomas B. Berry, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Buffalo, who has been for years past associated with Dr. Gallaudet in labor, and has enjoyed a long and intimate acquaintance with him. He also spoke of the work and the inspiration derived from the enthusiasm and devotion of their great leader.

Rev. Dr. Van Gieson, of the First Reformed Church, of this city, was called upon and gave a very interesting story of his own youthful experience, when, a boy or eleven, he made a journey from his New Jersey home to Hartford, and there spent three days in the company of Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Gallaudet, the father of the founder of this home, who went to France for instruction and then introduced education of the deaf into America. He said that these two noble men had only begun the great work, and it was to be carried on by others inspired by the same love, as he trusted, for many generations, in this home, and elsewhere where God's needy ones are found.

After the benediction by Rev. Mr. Ashton, the company spent a short time inspecting the building, looking out upon the beautiful view, and congratulating each other and the manager on what had been accomplished, and at one o'clock sat down to a bountiful luncheon in the dining room, provided by the lady managers, and served by young ladies of Zion Church guild.

At its close Mr. John I. Platt, who since Dr. Gallaudet's death has acted as chairman of the building committee, called the company to order, and after briefly alluding to that magnetic Christian character of the man whom he had been privileged to assist in the erection of the building for this home, and paying a business man's tribute to Dr. Gallaudet's practical energy and sterling common sense, said the time had come to formally turn over the Home to the Lady Managers, whose care it would henceforth be.

Mrs. Robert F. Crary, first vice-president of the board, responded. She regretted that her husband had been kept away by illness, and in the name of the board returned thanks to all who had assisted in making this structure and the occasion such a success. An Englishman had said, "Americans do not make speeches, they tell stories," so she would point to this Home, invite them all to see it, and let the Home tell its own story.

Remarks were briefly made also by Rev. W. G. W. Anthony of St. Stephen's College, Annandale; Rev. Dr. Wm. P. Swartz, of the Presbyterian Church, Poughkeepsie, and Rev. Dr. Chamberlain, who called attention to the needs of the Home to enable it to enlarge the number of its beneficiaries, and fill the measure of its usefulness, and asked all to continue their efforts in its behalf, and seek to add to the number of its friends and helpers.

Thanks were informally extended to the ladies who had cared for the Home so well during all its history, and provided for the comfort of the present occasion, to the guild of Zion Church, to Rev. Dr. Crary for his ministrations to the inmates while in temporary quarters in this city, to Mr. Hitchcock of the City Home, for his efforts to make them comfortable after they were driven from the Home by fire, and to all whose efforts have led up to this auspicious occasion.

Besides those mentioned, and a large number of visitors from this city and from Wappingers, there present Mr. A. L. Willis, of New York, secretary of the board of trustees; Mr. Geo. Wood, of the building committee; Rev. Edward S. Travers, of Christ Church; Mr. James A. Pott, of New York, treasurer of the Episcopal convention of this diocese; Mr. Joseph M. Lawlor, the architect of the building, and others.

Among the gifts noted were a beautiful brass cross and candelabra for the altar brought by Mr. Wm. Sanford from Europe, and a mite chest from Miss C. A. Newbold.

WEST VIRGINIA.

[Send news for this department to John C. Bremer, 3523 Jacob Street, Wheeling, W. Va.]

The Wheeling Intelligencer publishes the following this morning:

"Mrs. George W. Steenrod and her daughter, Mrs. Platoff Zaue, entertained with their accustomed charm of hospitality yesterday morning at the Fort Henry Club, interestingly about Ascension Day. He remained till the next day, when he attended the twenty-fifth anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Peterkin, and took an afternoon train for Lexington, Ky., to preach to the deaf there on Friday evening.

On the night of May 26th, a reception was held in honor of the Bishop, in the Sunday School room of the same church. A number of mutes were in attendance and they struck up an acquaintance with Bishop Dudley, of Kentucky, who can converse in the sign language. He has a deaf nephew by the name of William Johnston, who lives in Virginia.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., [May 18, 1903.]

W. Va., Tablet Editor:—A deaf hand in the glass factory at Morgantown, this State, was discharged for misbehavior, and now no more deaf people will be employed there. It is certainly an application of the particular to the universal, and a wrong one at that.—Tablet, May 16th.

The above is entirely wrong, as there has been no deaf hand except by giving an elaborate breakfast at twelve o'clock, in honor of Mrs. John McClurg Hays, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Rush Swope, of Baltimore, N. C. The table was done in green and white. A very large basket of white carnations and ferns occupied the centre of the table and the cloth, strewn with delicate maiden hair fern, formed a pretty and inviting sitting for the service of a delicious breakfast in eight courses. Covers were laid for fifteen guests."

Mr. Ernest W. Craig, of Toronto, O., spent Decoration Day with the reporter, and attended both base ball games between the Wheeling and South Bend, Ind., teams, but was disappointed that Mr. Rosson did not take any part in them. Ernest said that he would try to come back to attend the labor carnival, which occurs soon. He was entertained at a Sunday dinner with Misses Lucy K. McAdams, Sarah Cottrill, of Blaine, O., Mr. Rosson, and ye scribe, by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Frazier, over the river.

Mr. Charles A. Bailey, of Alumbidge, has decided to locate permanently in Washington, Pa., where he is holding a very good job. His address is No. 101 Hallam Avenue.

Mr. Thomas J. McClurg, of New Haven, Pa., left here for Pittsburgh last Tuesday, for a week's stay with his sister, Mrs. Hays.

Mr. W. J. Neel, of Romney, not long ago gave up teaching in the school for the deaf, accepting a lucrative position as a traveling salesman for Sweet, Orr & Co., of New York City. Mr. Austin, of Greenbrier County, was appointed to fill the vacancy till the school closes.

Mrs. Lillian Kiene, of Charleston, expects to visit her deaf sisters, Narcissa and Lula, at the Romney School, before its close.

The Romney School closes on June 17th.

Rev. A. W. Mann conducted services for St. Aidan's deaf mission, at St. Matthew's P. E. Church, on the night of the 24th ult. He spoke for one year in any of the glass factories here. The one excepted is Ed. Huffman, whom any glass factory would be very glad to employ at any time. He is one of the best glass workers in this section of the State, and has been working in three different glass factories here. No one would ever think of discharging him for misbehavior.

Yours truly,
A. A. CORRELL.

Mr. Lester G. Rosson departed again last Wednesday evening with the Wheeling base ball club for Terre Haute, Ind., for a series of four games, and thence to Fort Wayne and South Bend, Ind., returning here June 16th. He won two games from the very strong Evansville team on Sunday and Wednesday by scores of 3 to 1 and 6 to 5. He lost yesterday's game to Terre Haute by 4 to 2, the umpire's decisions being rank.

A well-known satirist thus speaks of the hustle and push of the nineteenth-century life:—"Man's business requires haste. The average business and professional man eats in a hurry and gets dyspepsia. He walks in a hurry and gets apoplexy. He talks in a hurry and gets the lie. He does business in a hurry and becomes a bankrupt. He reads in a hurry and is superficial. He votes in a hurry and produces corruption. He marries in a hurry and gets a divorce. He trains the children in a hurry and develops spendthrifts and criminals. He gets religion in a hurry and forgets it in a great hurry. He makes his will in a hurry and leaves a legal contest. He dies in a hurry and goes to the devil. And his tribe steadily increases!"

There is nothing more pathetic in the world than a man who dyes his hair and thinks people don't know it.

DESTROYED BY FIRE FEBRUARY 18, 1900.

landet, D.D., who spent a long and useful life in the service of those afflicted ones who are unable to hear the voice of their fellow men, or to communicate their thoughts by speech. The Home itself is a fitting monument to his faithfulness. Founded by him at the beginning, watched over by him in all the eighteen years of its existence, erected in its present form after plans which received his approval, and in large part under his personal supervision, we believe he looked upon it lovingly as such.

A short time before his death, while he was still able to visit it, he stood on the lawn in front and looking on the graceful proportions and substantial walls of the structure, observing also the tablet inserted over the entrance, he said to an associate on the committee: "There, I would rather have that associated with my name than the grandest monument of marble ever erected by man."

HISTORY OF THE HOME.

Dr. Gallaudet's personal connection with the religious teaching and welfare, both spiritual and material, of the deaf is well known. Becoming convinced that there ought to be some established organization for the religious care of this class, he procured the incorporation, under the laws of this State, of "The Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes," the certificate being filed October 21, 1872. Bishop Horatio Potter, of the Diocese of New York, was its first president, succeeded by the present Bishop Henry C. Potter. Dr. Gallaudet himself became the superintendent of the mission, and continued to perform the duties of the office till removed by death. As such he ministered in Old St. Ann's Church, New York, and went about the country holding services and preaching in the sign language, and looking after, advising and encouraging the deaf everywhere.

In the course of time he became impressed with the peculiar hardships and privations of aged and infirm deaf-mutes who were without friends and destitute, and entered upon the duty of establish-and afterwards removed to the house in this city formerly occupied by C. M. and G. P. Pelton, where they remained till the new building was ready for occupancy.

As soon as these arrangements could be completed, the insurance collected, and preliminary arrangements made, preparations were begun for erecting a new building. Plans were solicited from several architects, and after a careful comparison the preference was given to those presented by Mr. Joseph M. Lawlor, formerly of this city, now of 220 Broadway, New York. According to these plans the new building was to occupy the site, be constructed of the same materials, and follow nearly the outlines of the old Home, but to be of entirely different design, and contain much larger accommodations. Fortunately a considerable fund had been provided by legacies and donations, which had paid off all debts on the property, and provided moneys that might be used for the Home, in such manner as the trustees of the Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes might determine. In due time the work was begun, and has been carried to completion as diligently as circumstances seemed to permit. The following general description is furnished by the architect.

THE NEW BUILDING.

The main building, facing south, is 142 feet front by 40 feet deep, with an L extension to the north measuring 32 feet 4 inches wide by 52 feet 2 inches long.

The building is 3 stories high, with a central pavilion measuring 34 feet front by 40 feet deep as an extra story in height.

Veranda is front, facing south, measures 12 feet wide by 96 feet long, with an extension of Porte Cochere measuring 12 feet wide by 34 feet long.

The attic in the entire building is provided with a floor, and is adapted for storage purposes, the height in centre under the ridges being 7 feet 6 inches in the clear.

Height of cellar in the clear under entire building is 7 feet 6 inches.

"He's true to God who's true to man:
Wherever wrong is done
To the humblest and the weakest
Neath the all-beholding sun,
That wrong is also done to us,
And they are slaves most base,
Whose love of right is for themselves,
And not for all the race."

The description of the New Gallaudet Home, which we picture and reprint from the Poughkeepsie Eagle, will prove interesting reading to the deaf, not only of the State, but throughout the world.

Yet there is one thing regrettable about the exercises at the formal opening; no deaf person is mentioned as being present and taking part in the exercises.

That Rev. Dr. John Chamberlain, who has succeeded Rev. Dr. Gallaudet as General Manager, should be accorded a prominent place in the religious service, which was appropriately arranged by him, is right and proper. It was also met and just that Mr. John I. Platt spoke to the assemblage, as a man of affairs. Mr. Platt has been for many years a most valuable factor in promoting the affairs of the Home, and has worked constantly and unwearyingly that this new haven of refuge for the aged deaf-mutes might fulfill to the utmost every requirement.

Still the absence of any representative of the deaf, as a class of people, is something to be deplored. It was their right to expect prominent representation at the opening ceremonies.

When Rev. Dr. Thomas Gallaudet conceived the benevolent project of providing a shelter for those whom age or misfortunes had made subjects for public charity, he called together a number of prominent deaf gentlemen of New York city, some thirty years ago, and by their active aid started the movement which was to result in the broad acres and magnificent fire-proof building that stands as his monument at Camelot to-day. Through entertainments and brick-plan books, these deaf-mutes succeeded in raising a building-fund of nearly eight thousand dollars. The aged and dependent deaf were placed in a house and cared for under the patronage of a Miss Middleton. The temporary refuge gained a good deal of favorable publicity, and Rev. Dr. Gallaudet on every occasion presented its claims for private and public benevolence. The fund grew, and at last the present Home property was bought, entailing a heavy mortgage. But with that sublime trust in Providence that was the prominent characteristic of Rev. Dr. Gallaudet, the debt did not seem to trouble him, as he had faith in its eventual cancellation. Legacies and gifts began to multiply, and soon from a burden of debt there was evolved an endowment fund. Through all the trials and troubles which beset the early stages of the work, from the prominent deaf, and the friends they influenced, Dr. Gallaudet received loyal support. And now, on the anniversary of the founder's birth, less than a year after he has entered into his eternal reward, the Home is "formally opened," and no deaf representative has been present or been invited to say one word concerning the memories of the past or the bright fruition of the present. Aside from the pride which one of them would have taken in such a task, there is the result to consider. The impression—which is all too common—must have been fostered to some extent, that the deaf people are all subjects for commiseration and charity. And are they? Less than twenty-five out of nearly six thousand deaf-mutes of New York State are dependent upon public charity.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Miss Augusta Kaiser, an estimable lady well-known among the deaf of St. Louis, Mo., was struck by an engine on the 25th of May, while attempting to cross the track at Long Beach, a seaside resort some twenty miles from Los Angeles, and injured so severely that she expired two hours afterwards.

Miss Kaiser came to Los Angeles several months since from St. Louis, in company with another deaf lady. Upon being informed of the sad accident, relatives requested that the body be sent on to her old home, which was done. The deaf here were greatly shocked and grieved at Miss Kaiser's untimely death, as she was well liked and popular with all.

Another accident occurred upon the same date as that of the above, Willie Cook, nine years old, only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Cook, formerly of New Haven, Conn., while on his way home from school, was run over and almost instantly killed by an electric car.

It seems that in attempting to get out of the way of a bicycle rider he stepped upon the track directly in front of a rapidly approaching car, which for some reason he had failed to notice. Much sympathy is felt for the parents, who are nigh heart broken at their loss, especially the mother. Willie was a bright and handsome little fellow, and will be missed greatly by all.

Mr. Oscar Regensburg has returned to Los Angeles from a long visit in San Francisco. "Suzanne" wonders whether he ever intends to think seriously about that proposed Home for the Aged and Infirm Deaf of Illinois, or not.

The Los Angeles friends of Mrs. Charles McMann, nee Miss Masie Fitzpatrick, desire to extend to her their very best wishes upon the occasion of her marriage.

David Luddy, who is employed upon the night staff of the Los Angeles Daily Times, contemplates, so it is rumored, visiting his old home in Canada ere long, and when he returns it will not be alone.

Mrs. McDermid and daughter, who have been sojourning in Los Angeles and San Diego for some time past, leave on the 15th for San Francisco, from whence after a short visit, they return to their home in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Mr. Frank J. Shuford, who recently removed to this city with his family from Fort Smith, Arkansas, has bought a nice little home in Garvanza, a suburb of Los Angeles. Mr. Shuford secured a good paying position with the Times-Mirror Company soon after his arrival. Mrs. Shuford and "Suzanne" were schoolmates at the Kansas School.

Mrs. F. Shuford expects her deaf brother, Edwin Hatcher, of Kansas City, Kansas, to remove to Los Angeles with his family in the Fall. "Suzanne" read with genuine regret the news of the death of her old friend, Rev. Job Turner. Another grand old man gone! Kind, courteous, gentle and sympathetic, always ready to lend a helping hand and ever desirous of bettering the financial as well as the spiritual welfare of the deaf, he hath gone hence to return no more! In the death of Job Turner the deaf have lost a sincere friend. May we who are destined to linger in this vale of tears at length discover the path which he, who is gone, hath faithfully trod these many years.

"Some day the dearest road will turn
And wind thro' landscapes fair and green
By sparkling waters fringed with ferns,
And gardens bright with fragrant shrubs:
Some day! Ah, yes! some day!"

"Some day, you say! I the wearied feet
Will pause, and loosen their sandals
And rest where shadows, cool and sweet,
Shut out the burning noonday skies,
Some day, dear heart, some day!"

SUZANNE.

LOS ANGELES, JUNE 3, 1903

DIED.

Mrs. Sarah Robinson, mother of Mrs. J. B. Valles, died at her residence, 117 Oak street, Greenpoint, L. I., on Friday, June 5th, and was buried Monday morning in the family plot at Bellport, L. I.

Mrs. Robinson had been ailing for the past ten years, and it was thought for a while that she was on the road to recovery, when an attack acute pneumonia set in, and despite the best of medical attendance, she succumbed to the disease on Friday last.

She was seventy-five years old, was born at Bellport, L. I., and for the past thirty years had resided in Brooklyn. She was a consistent and devoted attendant of the Reformed Church in Greenpoint, and her death is sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends. She is survived by one daughter and a grandchild.

BUFFALO AND ROCHESTER.

During June, July and August, services will be held in the crypt of ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, BUFFALO, on the Second and Fourth Sundays at 11 o'clock a.m., and in ST. LUKE'S PARISH HOUSE, ROCHESTER, on the First and Third Sundays, at 11 o'clock a.m.

REV. C. O. DANTZER,
5 Mason Street,
Rochester, N. Y.

Allentown, Pa.

On the 29th May Miss Katie E. Schmoeyer was married to Mr. Elmer W. Clemmer, of North Wales, Pa. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Schmoeyer, corner of Seventh and Washington Streets, at eight o'clock in the evening. The house was crowded with guests, numbering over sixty. The parlor was decorated with flowers of all kinds.

Rev. F. C. Smielau tied the knot, speaking orally and in the sign language. The bride was beautifully attired in a white silk dress, trimmed with ribbons and laces to match, and carried bridal roses. The bridesmaids were her two sisters, Adia L. and Lillian Schmoeyer. After the ceremony a reception took place. The bride received many nice and costly presents. Both the bride and groom are graduates of the Pennsylvania Institution when located at Broad and Pine Streets, Philadelphia. The groom is a cigar maker by trade, but now holds a lucrative position in a hosiery factory in this city, so the couple will make their home here for the present. The following deaf-mutes were present: Mr. and Mrs. H. Fennekes, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bradbury, Chas. Van Kirk, Joseph Van Kirk, Wm. Fennekes, George Andreas, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver N. Krause, of Allentown, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Haney, of South Bethlehem; Miss Ida Kemmerer, of Best; Miss Annie Hall and Mr. Stephen Esser, of Kutztown; and Mrs. McCurdy, of Lansdale.

Mr. Robert M. Ziegler, of Philadelphia, gave an interesting reading on Julius Caesar, on the 30th of May. The attendance was large, but not so large as it should have been, and those absent will be sorry they missed such a good treat. It took over two hours, and all present gave Mr. Ziegler close attention. He also spoke about the Home, its needs, and how to maintain the same.

The defunct Allentown Local Branch was reorganized with eighteen members. The officers are: Chas. T. Bradbury, Chairman; Oliver N. Krause, Secretary; and Harry Fennekes, Treasurer.

The Guild here held a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fennekes, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Mr. Charles Bradbury, Chairman; Mr. O. N. Krause, Secretary; Mrs. Oliver N. Krause, Treasurer.

Mr. William F. Shoemaker, of Reynolds, Schuylkill Co., died last May 16th, from consumption. He was in ill health for several years. He attended the school for the deaf at Broad and Pine Streets, Philadelphia. He worked on a farm since graduation, and was about 40 years old.

Mr. Moses Foster, of Tamaqua, was visiting his many deaf-mute friends here last week for two days. He enjoys good health.

Mr. Stephen Esser, of Kutztown, spent two days in Allentown calling upon several deaf-mutes, also including Decoration Day.

The deaf-mutes of Allentown and vicinity will hold their annual picnic at Dorney's Park, on August 15th. The committee is composed of Messrs. Chas. T. Bradbury, John Van Kirk and Wm. Arnold.

Mr. Harrison Yoder, of Reading, was sojourning with friends here last Saturday and Sunday. He appeared to be in good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miller were in Limeport last Sunday, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Milton Keck, formerly of this city. Mrs. Keck and Mrs. Miller are sisters, nee Litzenberger.

The June quarterly meeting of the Gallaudet Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Sanders in Mt. Airy, on Saturday, June 13th. Mr. J. A. McIlvaine was host to the Club on this occasion. In the absence of Secretary Reider, who was indisposed, Mr. H. E. Stevens acted as Secretary pro tem. The Club revised its rules, which occupied much of its time at this meeting. Under the new rules membership is limited to twenty (20). After other business was transacted, the Club adjourned to the dining room where the evening was spent at a la Bohemia. Here the members vied with each other in telling stories and a rattling time was had. The next meeting of the Club will probably be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ziegler, on September 19th.

The following sad case appeared in the York Dispatch on June 2d:

Dr. Coombs, whose daughter Vernie was reported in last evening's paper as having attempted suicide, denies the suicide theory. Miss Coombs is suffering from dementia. Laboring under the hallucination that she had the power to stop a train of cars she stepped on the track. It was then that the young bystanders drew her from the track and her injury. Sixteen years ago Miss Coombs suffered a relapse from diphtheria, resulting in meningitis and internal abscesses, destroying her hearing totally. She attended the Pennsylvania Institution for Deaf for six years and received a certificate for efficiency in her studies, but within the last year dementia developed and she had become uncontrollable.

On Sunday, June 14th, Rev. Mr. Koehler baptized the infant boy of Mr. and Mrs. Seneca F. Large, of Doylestown, at All Souls' Church for the Deaf. He was named Harrison Fell. Miss Smith was godmother.

"Some one has stolen my dinner!" This was the complaint made to the police of Chestnut Hill last evening by Dr. A. L. E. Crouter, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Deaf and Dumb Institution. Two policemen went to the residence and in a vacant lot two men were found dividing a bottle of salad dressing, a big steak, two dozen eggs, two boxes of strawberries, a loaf of bread and a can of tomatoes. The men were arrested and Dr. Crouter to-day stated that the eatables had been stolen from his kitchen. The prisoners gave their names as Edward McDonald and John Sheridan. They were each sentenced to three months in the House of Correction. —Evening Bulletin, June 11, 1903.

The June quarterly business meeting of the Clerc Literary Association was held last Thursday evening, 11th of June. There was an unusually large attendance of both members and non-members, many having come expressly to see Prof. Watson, of the Institute for the Deaf, in Sidney, Australia, whose coming had been announced on Sunday. He was present at the meeting with Dr. Crouter, whose guest he was. Business was hastily despatched, and Mr. Watson was then introduced and made a highly interesting address. The Professor is making a short tour to the principal oral schools in the East to learn new methods.

It may not be generally known that Rube Waddell, the famous twirler of the champion Athletics, can use the manual alphabet; though not with sufficient ease. He has twice honored the Philadelphia Deaf-Mutes' Baseball team by serving as umpire. The last time was on Saturday, June 6th. The Philadelphia Inquirer reported the game thus:

In the presence of over two thousand people Rube Waddell, of the Athletics, umpired Saturday afternoon at Jim Donnell's Park. Rube is a wonder as an umpire. The feature of the game was the fine pitching of Weeney and Urbach. Score:

Rube got $10 for his off-day work. It is said that he also won a bet of $50 which he had wagered on the deaf team. When Rube talks with his fingers, he snaps off words in a way that makes the onlookers on the diamond think he is also a "champion" finger-speller.

On Saturday evening, June 20th, Prof. W. G. Jones of New York, will give a reading of "Don Quixote," before the Philadelphia Local Branch, P. S. A. D., in the Harrison Building, N. E. Corner 8th and Spring Garden Streets. (Entrance on 8th Street, room on fourth floor. The proceeds of the reading will be given to the Home for the Aged and Infirm Deaf. The admission price will be twenty cents, (20c.) A large crowd will undoubtedly turn out to see Prof. Jones.

Mrs. S. E. Price and Mrs. Oliver I. Christman trolleyed to Philadelphia on Sunday from Easton. After paying a short visit to the Mt. Airy School, they called on Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lipsett, and dined with them, and in the afternoon visited All Souls' Church. They left for home the same afternoon, having enjoyed their short visit very much.

Thursday evening, June 4th, the following literary exercises were held by the Clerc Literary Association:

News reading.....President Breen
Recitation.....Wm. F. Durian
Recitation.....Daniel Paul
Declaration....."The Passing of Thomas,"
.....Howard E. Arnold
Humorous Sketch.....Geo. T. Sanders

Mrs. George T. Sanders will give a reading before the Association this Thursday evening.

On Tuesday evening, June 23d, Mr. W. W. Beadell, of New Jersey, a graduate of Gallaudet College, will lecture before the Association. There will be no meeting there on Thursday, June 25th. A reception will follow the lecture.

Miss Susan McKee was called to Michigan by the death of an aunt. She may not return until the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Zang's daughter, Lizzie, has been dangerously ill with typhoid fever. We do not know her condition at this writing, but trust that she is convalescing.

Mrs. Thomas D. Delp is visiting in New York State for a couple of weeks.

There is talk of having a private picnic here on July the Fourth. Messrs. Jones and Mayer are behind it.

Miss Annie Houston, the bright and handsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Houston, attained her maturity last week. We offer her our congratulations.

Howard E. Arnold is boarding at Oaklane P. O., for the summer.

BALTIMORE, MD.

William Duvall paid a flying visit to Washington, Saturday and Sunday, May 30 and 31. He was the guest of Brown, '05, of Gallaudet College. He reports a very good, time and spoke in loving terms of the good treatment he received at the hands of the college boys.

It is rumored that Baltimore is to have another mute mission under the Lutheran Church, and that it will be headed by a smart and bright graduate of Gallaudet College. The small colony of the deaf here will then boast of four religious bodies. We are of the opinion that one church is enough for such a small number of mutes hereabouts.

The Annual Commencement of the Maryland School for the Colored Deaf and Blind took place at the Academy of Music, Friday night, June 12th, before a large audience which included many well known persons identified with philanthropic work in this city. The pupils of the school occupied seats upon the stage and rendered an interesting program of exercises under the direction of the principal of the School, Mr. J. F. Bledsoe. The programme included the following numbers: Prayer, Rev. Dr. R. H. Armstrong; reading and writing exercises by a blind-deaf boy, Albert Jones; prize essay, subject, "The Ancient Peruvians," John Banks; singing and lip-reading, vocal solos, map drawing, a spelling bee, scarf drill; "The Drill of the Little Patriots," physical culture exercises and vocal choruses.

John E. Fowble, of Greenmont, Md., arrived in this city late Wednesday night from Frederick, where he went with an excursion party. He visited the school and reports everybody well and everything going along at regular clockwork.

The next Annual Reunion and Picnic of the former and present pupils of the Maryland School will meet at Druid Hill Park Grove No. 8, Wednesday, August 5th. Athletic sports will be indulged in and the Society has decided to appropriate a good sum to be expended in prizes to be awarded to the winners in the contest. Druid Hill is one of the finest natural parks in the country and Baltimore can certainly boast of it. It contains 700 acres of land. The zoo has been greatly enlarged during the past year and more animals added. The baseball and athletic fields have been improved and are the centre of sports of all kinds.

A large boat lake is located near the grove and is well patronized by the young set. The tennis courts prove a great attraction in summer time, and skating is a great sport on the boat lake in winter. The greenhouses contain many beautiful flowers and plants and are open to the public.

George Leitner suddenly returned home from Des Moines, Iowa, where he went to play baseball for that team. He has signed to pitch for an amateur club of this city.

From the Bulletin, we note that the Board of Directors will meet at the Maryland School, on Tuesday, June 9th. We suppose that a new president will be chosen to succeed the late Dr. Fairfax Schley.

Chas. F. McClary, of Toilechester, was in town last week and wended his way to Carny, five miles from the city. Wonder what attracts him there.

Rev. D. E. Moylan went home to visit his family, and J. A. Brandlick occupied the pulpit at the M. E. Mission, Sunday evening, June 7th.

Carl Rhodes left his work at the shoe-factory and went back home to live with his parents in Washington, D. C. He talks some of going out West to seek his fortune.

Rev. D. E. Moylan and family will leave this city July 3d, to spend several weeks at Mountain Lake Park. They have already engaged board at the Maryland Hotel.

Gustave Thies is at home again from Easton, where he went last month on business. He is a first-class fresco painter, and commands very good wages and is much in demand.

ST. LOUIS.

The chief event of the past week was the anniversary supper of the St. Thomas' Mission, on May 30th. An excellent menu was served to all who could furnish the reasonable price of a quarter for the whole table d'hôte. The ice cream stand, run as a side attraction to the supper, also did a rushing business until the bottom of the freezer was reached. Games and other amusements filled up the time until a late hour, and every one enjoyed himself or herself to their heart's content. As everything was donated, the Mission was enabled to lay by a nice sum for future expenses and also purchase a good set of eating utensils for future use, thus avoiding the necessity of asking members of the Mission to bring them from their homes whenever they were needed.

Mr. E. Nowell, after a fortnight on the road from Pittsburg, has turned up in the city again after a year's absence, rather thinner than when he left; but that is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. He intends to migrate to California in a few months to rejoin his mother, who moved there recently.

The June meeting of the Public Opinion was held on the 3d, and the usual good programme rendered; the recent heavy rains however, keeping the crowd down considerably.

The flooding of the low lying districts along the city front has brought out the camera fiends, among whom are several deaf. Some have secured very good pictures of certain interesting places and are now proudly exhibiting them among their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Theurer have christened their son Francis, in honor of the President of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

A very pleasant evening was spent by several of the deaf at the home of Miss Bolin, who entertained them with an euchere party. The winners, Messrs. Wessel and Jones and Misses Schwieler and Selum, received very appropriate prizes. After refreshments were served the party broke up, managing to catch the late owl car without the usual weary waiting.

The Gallaudet Union's Picnic Committee has a hard time finding a suitable place for the Union's Picnic, as many of the desirable places are flooded, and may remain so for weeks. In all probability it will be held in Forest Park. This has the advantage that the picnickers can come and go at their own sweet will, as at it is easily accessible by trolley cars.

TWO DEAF BOYS KILLED.

DETROIT, MICH., June 6.—Joseph and Charles Demmick, brothers, aged nine and eleven respectively, were struck by train No. 1 of the Detroit Southern, at the Monguagon creek bend of the railroad at Wyandotte Heights, two miles south of Wyandotte proper. The lads were thrown to the side of the track in the gutter, where they were found dead by the train crew. A brother named Frank, who was with the others, saw the train and jumped in time to save his life.

Both Joseph and Charles were deaf and dumb, and did not hear nor see the train. Frank turned in time to see his danger, but was unable to warn his brothers. The bodies were not mangled, but several bones in both bodies were broken, and death must have been instantaneous.

As the engineer of the train rounded the Monguagon creek bend at Wyandotte Heights, he saw three boys walking up the embankment of the track from toward the river, but supposing that they would cross the tracks or wait until the train had passed, did not slow up. To his horror the boys did neither, but started down the middle of the track, not heeding the shrill whistle of the engine.

The engineer, when he saw that the boys did not intend to leave the track, grasped the air brake lever and put the brakes down hard, but it was too late. The train struck the lads, and the engineer, peering from the cab of the engine, saw two human bodies fly through the air.

The bodies were placed tenderly on the train by the crew, and the train proceeded to Wyandotte, where Undertaker Henry Thon took charge of the remains. Justice Thiede impelled a jury and will hold an inquest.

The three boys lived with their parents in Glenwood. The father, Frank Demmick, is a laborer.

Train No. 1, after the bodies had been removed, went on its way, arriving in Detroit over half an hour late.

No blame is attached to the train crew or engineer, as the boys were at fault in walking on the tracks.

FANWOOD.

The annual tally-ho excursion of the Protean Society, to City Island, was successfully carried through on Thursday, June 11th—two days after Commencement.

The weather favored the party all through the day, and the only regret was that when nearing home and getting ready to set off a number of Roman candles, the rain came and made the fireworks sputter and die.

The start was made at nine o'clock. The Proteans comprised Cadets Renner, Stern, Powell, Berger, Freedman, Felix Berg, Schwartz, Birek, Seelig, Amnuth, Zwofe, Westlake, with Messrs. Thos. F. Fox, E. A. Hodgson and Wesley Van Tassel as guests.

Previous to the start, Mr. Hodgson photographed the party on the Institution lawn, and during the day made snap-shots of different occurrences en route and at City Island, so that a pictured story of the trip is secured, including a good picture of the company at lunch in the hotel.

The time between lunch and dinner was spent on the water in boats, manned by two, three or four cadets. Messrs. Stern and Renner, with Mr. Hodgson as coxswain, rowed almost across the Sound. Mr. Fox was stroke oar for a quartet who tried to catch blue fish and succeeded in pulling in a few minnows. Cadet Berger piloted his crew all the way to Glen Island and back. The champion fisherman of the day was Cadet Renner, who caught a flounder and three sea bass.

Before and after dinner, the bowling alleys were well patronized. Wesley Van Tassel was easily the best at this exercise. He made a total of 174 pins, the next nearest being about 70 pins behind.

The start for home began at nine o'clock, and the skill of Mr. Prior as a whip was demonstrated by the way he drove along the narrow road that winds through the woods from City Island to Pelham Bridge.

NEW YORK.

The Strawberry Festival a Success.

ALL FOR CHARITY.

Personal and Pertinent.

News items for this column should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

A few words of information in a letter or on a postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

When the deaf of this city start out to have a good time, they generally go it. Whether it is out in the open where Old Sol is struggling to dry up rain-soaked picnic grounds, or safe under cover, in the glare of innumerable gas jets, with the temperature at 80 degrees, and stand-up collars clinging like wet handkerchiefs to muscular necks, you will find the same happy faces of our deaf friends wherever they assemble, and under almost any conditions. This gives the lie to those who assert that the deaf are by nature a morbid, sensitive class. Experience has shown that they can laugh and be merry under circumstances that would have made a hearing crowd weep.

It would have needed a room twice the size of the Guild Room of St. Ann's Church to comfortably hold all who attended the Strawberry Festival of the Guild of Silent Workers, Saturday evening. It was a merry crowd, bound to have a good time. The games furnished by the committee in charge were numerous and varied, and the participants entered into them with as much zest as if there were solid gold medals offered for the winners.

The monkey's donation party was in charge of Miss Hannah Frey. The object was to place a coin in the monkey's hat. Mr. James Aven, whose luck is proverbial succeeded, and the prize, a pair of gold sleeves links, went to him. "Just what I needed," he remarked as he uncovered them.

Miss Ehrlich was in charge of the watermelon party. A picture of the head of a negro with a capacious mouth and a row of glistering ivory tusks was tacked on a wall, and the contestants furnished with slices of watermelon were invited to place them in the negro's mouth. Miss Alice Judge was the lucky winner. The committee presented her with a copy of the Delineator for her to peruse during the vacation season.

The target game in charge of Miss Kumer, attracted most of the young people, who considered themselves marksmen of the William Tell order. Mr. Richard Long succeeded in placing the dart in the center of the target, and walked off with the prize, a stained glass plaque of very handsome design.

There never was a gathering where games for prizes were offered that Mr. Harry Zerwich did not capture at least one of the prizes. Mrs. Frederick Stratton presided over the game "Blowing out the candle," and just when it seemed Mr. Zerwich would miss a prize for once, the candle went out, and Mr. Zerwich grinned when he was handed a framed picture drawn by Mr. Harth.

The framed design executed by Mr. Harth went to Miss Faren, the holder of the lucky number.

Ice-cream, strawberries and cake were served, and by eleven o'clock the sexton, Mr. Abrams, began turning out the lights as a signal the festivities were at an end.

The committee in charge of the affair deserve credit for the excellent way they managed things. They were Mr. Harth, Mrs. Buhle, and Miss Berley.

"All for sweet charity" was the dominant thought which filled the hearts of those who gathered at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church on the evening of the 12th to participate in the Chinese social, which proved a most successful entertainment. The parlors were tastefully decorated with paraphernalia suggestive of the occasion, and an atmosphere of Mongolian festivity prevailed. One of the most interesting features was about a hundred views of the school at Chefoo and other objects of interest around that ancient town. These pictures were kindly loaned by Dr. Westervelt, of the Rochester Institution.

The merriment began with some exceptionally attractive feats of magic by a Mr. Hendrickson, which lasted half an hour. Another half hour was devoted to some smoke and shadow pictures, which were enjoyed by all to the full.

The fan drill was conceded to be one of the prettiest features of the programme. Six young ladies, Mrs. Harry Dickerson, Misses Bella Bensinger, Emma Dresing, Kate Weber, Anna Giebelhaus and Bertha Seebald, fetchingly dressed in blue and pink kimonoes, showed skill in the graceful manner with which they handled these dainty weapons, winning plaudits and admiration from all present.

The rice-eating contest furnished unbounded amusement to those who witnessed that original entertainment, the young folks manipulating the chopsticks with dexterity that would fill a celestial with pride, while a "me likee belly well" expression gradually grew to a bland smile as the particles of rice vanished from their plates. Had their eyes been looped up at the corners and a pigtail dangling at the back, the scene could not have been more realistic. Miss Spahn, a hearing sister of Mrs. Robert McVea, captured the ladie's prize, while honors were easy with Mr. Samuel Frankenhelm on the men's side.

It was a little before eleven when the delightful sociable was concluded. When the committee makes its report, it is expected that over fifty dollars will be realized for the Chinese School. It will be sent to Mrs. Mills, through the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Mrs. Alex Dezendorf's brother, Edward Highfield, a prosperous coal merchant on Hancock Street, Borough of Brooklyn, invited Mr. and Mrs. Dezendorf, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson to a party at the above place, in honor of his daughter Blanche's sixteenth birthday. Miss Frances Dezendorf had charge of the entertainment. About fifty young people crowded the "spacious" rooms. Mr. Richie, a cousin of Mrs. Dezendorf, kept the piano playing all evening and was complimented on his skill, and to the guests seemed another Paderewski, though his hair was eleven inches shorter than that of the famous musician. Mr. Highfield spared no pains or expense to make the evening pass pleasantly for the young people, and at the same time took care to see that the older people were kept "wet" by another cousin of Mrs. Dezendorf, Mr. John Highfield, who kept opening "Mum's Extra Dry" all evening. One of the guests, Mr. Stevenson, had visited Mrs. Dezendorf when she was Miss Highfield, some twenty years ago in that same house. It was his first visit there since that time. Twenty years ago there were not any houses around the Highfield homestead. It was a farm-house then and only fields surrounded it. To-day many rows of flats and the spacious 13th Regiment Armory, of Brooklyn, surrounds it. The house is very odd in architecture, showing it to have withstood the ravages of time in good stead. The guests left at a very late hour, congratulating Miss Blanche on her birthday and wishing her many more such happy occasions.

Already the Lexington A. A. Football Team is receiving a "shake up" for the coming season, which will find it double in strength and wiser in experience. The individual make up of the team is interesting, as they represent the Lexington Avenue School, Fanwood Institute, Mt. Airy Institute, Pa., and Galland College. Many of the old-time warriors will be missing.

The team will be managed as heretofore by Mr. Marcus L. Kenner, unless circumstances compel him to quit. At present there are several vacancies in the team and more "subs" are desired. Those who feel they can do justice to the "pigskin" game and fill the position assigned them with credit to themselves and their Alma Mater, are requested to send in their names at the earliest possible moment to the following address: Mr. William Fricken (Captain), 922 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Robinson, the mother of Mrs. J. B. Valles, died on June 5th, after a long and painful illness, which she bore with great patience. She was a good woman and many friends sincerely mourn her loss. Her pastor, the Rev. Mr. Faunce, officiated at her funeral at her late residence, 117 Oak Street, Brooklyn, on Sunday evening, June 7th, and the Rev. Dr. Chamberlain interpreted the service for her daughter and deaf friends, who were present. Mrs. Valles' many friends most deeply sympathize with her in her bereavement. The deaf who attended the funeral were Mrs. Susan Knox, Miss K. Colligan and Messrs. C. Q. Mann, H. L. Juhring, A. McLaren, Storn, of New Jersey, and some others whose names your reporter did not get.

Harry Stevenson, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson, has accepted a position in Coney Island with his grandmother, learning the hotel business. He says the deaf-mutes seem to still think a good deal of Mr. Gleason's Pavilion, as he has met as many as twelve there Sunday. Mr. Gleason seems to take quite a fancy to the deaf-mutes, and he and his wife will do all they can to entertain them. If the deaf visitors to Coney wish to escape the misfortune of eating "dog" frankfurters they better take a stroll farther out at Coney—as far as Gleason's, and they will enjoy the time better.

The total sum that has been received by Marcus L. Kenner for the Kishineff Fund, up to June 7th, is $10.50. A list of those who generously lent in their contributions will be found in this paper.

any one to compete with her. Mr. Dezendorf offered a fine silver watch as prize for the winner of the match. Mrs. Fisher, a young hearing lady, accepted the challenge. After an hour of hard work, Mrs. Dezendorf showed her skill at the game, at the same time showing she was as lively as a cricket in spite of the years she had travelled. Mr. Dezendorf was very glad to have her win the prize. Then a boat ride was enjoyed by the party, Mr. Dezendorf proving himself an expert oarsman. A very delightful time was had and everyone is awaiting another such invitation, which will no doubt occur in the near future.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dezendorf, of Doscher St., East New York, invited a few friends to accompany them to the famous seaside resort called "Old Mill." It is the most frequented resort of the East New Yorkers, though it costs half as much to enjoy oneself as at Newport or Long Branch. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens went along, besides several young people. At the Old Mill the party had a fine lunch at the expense of Mr. and Mrs. Dezendorf. After the inner man being satisfied, Mrs. Dezendorf unfurled her ping-pong set and challenged

As has been their custom for several years past, Mr. and Mrs. George Kinsey will leave for Sag Harbor in July to spend their vacation. Their young son, Freddie, will accompany them. Mr. Kinsey has purchased a complete up-to-date fishing outfit and intends to catch a few fish this time. He has always had to buy a few fish before leaving the fishing banks to bluff his better half and the loungers at the hotel, where they stop.

Mr. William Renner, who has just graduated from Fanwood, is overhauling his canoe and intends to explore the Bronx River during the summer. Hope he will regale us with some more fresh-water yarns by and-by. If Willie can navigate his canvas barque safely past the coal yards and dye factories with which the Bronx River is lined, and get as far as the dam in Bronx Park, we can count on hearing something from him to a certainty.

Among the out-of-town deaf who were present at the Strawberry Festival, last Saturday night, were Mrs. S. W. McClelland, of Mountain View, N. J., and Mrs. Atkinson, and Miss Post, of Paterson, N. J. Newark sent several representatives, among them being Mr. and Mrs. John Black and Miss Menow. From Bridgeport, Ct., were Miss Deborah Hoyt Marshall, and her two brothers, Gilbert and Gordon Marshall.

Though but a short time in this country, Mr. Jacob Landan, who hails from Austria-Hungary, had the handiwork to capture a pick-pocket "red handed," while in the act of stealing a lady's pocketbook. The man was arrested, but was later set free much to the surprise and concealed indignation of Mr. Landan, who did not know that the prisoner had to be discharged because the victim declined to bring charges.

Though no date has yet been set by the Central Relief Committee for the closing of subscriptions to the Kishineff Fund, Mr. Marcus L. Kenner has decided to close the "Fund" which he is collecting from deaf-mutes, on Monday, June 29th, on which he will hand it over to Mr. Arnold Kohn, of the State Bank. Those deaf-mutes who have not yet sent in their contributions are earnestly asked to do so.

It is interesting to note that the first two survivors to reach New York after the Kishineff massacre, last Saturday, are Mr. Berle Geller, and his son Isaac, who is a deaf-mute. He is said to have been one of the best wood carvers in Kishineff. He is fourteen years of age. Father and son are now stopping in Brooklyn.

Adolph Buhl has started a small chair canning and carpet cleaning business at his home, 304 West 154th Street, and is doing quite a good business at the start, and would be pleased to receive orders for work from his deaf friends at any time. We hope he will meet with success in the near future.

On Sunday, June 7th, in St. Ann's Church for Deaf-Mutes, Rev. Dr. Chamberlain baptized the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. I. Lounsbury. He was named Irving William Lounsbury. The sponsors were Mr. William Bothner, Miss Margaret Duffy, and Mr. Isaac Newton Soper.

Mrs. Mary Evans has recently returned to Brooklyn and vicinity from her eight months' stay with her sister, of Scranton, Pa., who has been sick for a long time. About the same time, her other sister, Mrs. George Holdridge, of New York, has also been quite sick. Both are slowly recovering.

Many friends in this city of Mr. James F. O'Neil, familiarly known as "Uncle Jim," will regret to learn of his death, which occurred in Troy, N. Y., on Saturday, June 6th. He was buried at Whitehall, N. Y., on June 8th.

Mr. and Mrs. Boswell have now settled down to housekeeping again in their new flat in East New York. They are all the time absorbed in the thought of how they can please the little stranger who came to bless them a few weeks ago.

Mrs. George Donovan, who has been very sick for some months, is now on the road to rapid recovery, and will soon be able to leave the house and pay her friends a call. Her little son, George, is doing very well.

Mr. I. N. Soper had Mr. Sam. W. McClelland, of Mountain View, N. J., as his guest last Sunday. They visited places of interest in Harlem and had a ten-course dinner at the West End Restaurant.

There will be a party tendered to a certain married couple in East New York very soon. It is rumored that it will take place the last week in June, and is to eclipse all previous ones.

A large stork waded, or rather waddled, into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias, nee Miss Agnes Seanlon, and left a bouncing baby girl. Both mother and child are doing finely.

Mrs. Kinsey has invited Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Mrs. Alex Dezendorf, and Mrs. Boswell, to a small tea-party this week, prior to her departure for Sag Harbor.

A movement is on foot to have an excursion to the Gallaudet Home. The date favored is Saturday, July 18th. Particulars will soon be made public.

Theo. S. Rose has just returned to town from Chicago, whither he went to be present at the wedding of his niece. He was away eight days.

Mr. William H. Farnham will spend the later part of the Summer season at Ocean Grove, N. J.

Mr. Louis A. Ahmes has recently joined the ranks of the Brooklyn Guild of Deaf-Mutes.

The Lexington Avenue School closed for the summer vacation, Wednesday, June 17th.

In Memoriam.

The following minutes were adopted by the Board of Trustees of the Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes at their meeting on Monday evening, June 8th:—

The Board of Trustees of the Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes desires to put upon record and extend to the family of our late General Manager an expression of our deep sympathy with them in the added sorrow which has been brought to them by the death of Mrs. Gallaudet. Elizabeth Budd Gallaudet was one whose sweet and lovely and altogether interesting character could not fail to impress happily those who knew her, and was constant benediction and inspiration to him with whom she so long and intimately shared the joys and sorrows of this earthly pilgrimage. While we profoundly sympathize with the family now doubly bereaved and in our measure share their sorrow, we cannot but cherish the comforting thought, that the messenger who has summoned her away from us has conducted her to a renewal of that companionship which was so beautiful here and whose joy must be intensified by the nearer presence of Him by whose spirit it was ever pervaded and vitalized. We devoutly pray that God may comfort the bereaved family and give us all grace to follow the good example of those who have gone before, and at the last bring us with them to a joyful resurrection and the eternal inheritance prepared for those who love Him.

The death of the Reverend John Turner on Tuesday, May 19th, 1903, removed from the ranks of the clergy who especially minister to the deaf one who was very widely known, highly esteemed and warmly loved, and who will be greatly missed. Though not officially connected with the Church Mission to Deaf-Mutes, he was a frequent and ever welcome visitor in our field of work and a life-long and intimate friend of our late General Manager, the Reverend Dr. Gallaudet, and the Board of Trustees deem it an honor to place upon record an expression of our high appreciation of his life and character, and deep sympathy with his bereaved relatives and with the deaf community of which he was so long a prominent and worthy member, and of whose best interests he was always an enthusiastic advocate. He was one of the first generation of educated deaf-mutes in the United States, but, though the scope of education has been greatly widened and the methods and facilities of instruction have been much improved, his character and his life-work set an example most worthy the imitation of those who enjoy the larger advantages of the present day. "The path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

CHICAGO.

A Business Meeting of the Aid Society.

THE WIGWAM PARTY.

A Double Bill of Brevities.

From our Regular Correspondent.

The regular business meeting of the Aid Society of Chicago was held on the afternoon of June 3d, with Mrs. Colby, the president, in the chair, and a very good attendance present. The society is growing very rapidly, and at every meeting receives new members. Miss Ruth Zoellinger read the Scripture lesson and Miss Deaconess Smith offered prayer. Miss Cora Jacoba then signed the hymn, "Jesus, the Redeemer of my Soul." The reports of the committee and officers were read and accepted. Deaconess Smith gave her report and several cases were attended to. The Society is arranging to hold a "Wigwam Party" on the ground adjoining the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ethelbert D. Hunter, No. 56 Best Avenue, on the North Side, on the afternoon and evening of June 20th.

The lawn will be divided into a narrow street, lined with Indian stores, where various articles will be offered for sale to the visitors. One of the interesting features promised is a "luncheon" to be served by the squaws, which will be under the personal direction of Mrs. Hasenstab. It is intended to make this affair the most unique and interesting of the season, the price of admission being fixed at ten cents a person. It was then decided to have the annual picnic or outing on the 15th of August. Several places were named, and after much discussion the president appointed Mesdames Hasenstab, Dougherty and Watson to decide the choice and report at the July meeting.

A letter from Mr. Widd, of Los Angeles, to Mr. Dougherty was read by the president. It says that the deaf-mutes of Los Angeles propose to raise a fund to erect a suitable memorial over the grave of our late friend, Mrs. Nellie Patten, in the cemetery at Los Angeles, and if asks Chicago friends to contribute, no matter how small their gifts may be. These friends decided to bring the matter before the Society, as Mrs. Patten was one of the earnest organizers of the Society, and during its existence had always been one of its loyal adherents. During her many years of activity among us she had always shown a true and womanly character and kindly disposition, and had thereby endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact.

It was well received and gladly responded to, but Mr. Buchanan sent word that he would attend to the matter himself and requested the Society to drop the matter. Then Rev. Mr. Hasenstab made a suggestion that perhaps our unfortunate deaf-mute brethren in Kansas City are in need of help, as a large part of that city is under water as a result of the unprecedented flood in the Kansas River. Mrs. Watson moved that as the first gifts are the most valued, they should send their offerings without a day's delay. In such a case help must be given swiftly if it is to be of any avail. It was seconded and the secretary was requested to write to the mayor of Kansas City concerning the matter. The society will mail a check for $25 after they hear from the mayor. This society is always too glad to have a share in the good work. Letters of congratulation were sent to several happy parents on the birth of little ones. Miss Martha Wilson was gladly admitted into the society as a new member. Mrs. Watson then closed the meeting with a story, "A Little Girl's Memorial," which interested the audience. The meeting then adjourned until the first Wednesday in July.

The entertainment committee of the Aid Society is rehearsing for the "Wigwam Party." Those who have seen the rehearsals say that it bids fair to be most successful. Come and see it. Bring your children along. They have an Indian dance, the pow-wow, and do other things in a realistic manner, which history tells are peculiar to the American aborigines. An exceptionally pleasant time is assured, and you will be served Indian foods by the squaws with radiant smiles. You can not afford to miss it.

Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, of Gano, a suburb of Chicago, was given a surprise birthday party on the 29th of May, by her relatives and hearing friends. The birthday cake was inscribed with "Sweet Sixteen." She was the recipient of many beautiful presents. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all, and the guests departed at a late hour, wishing the hosts many happy returns of the day.

A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens two weeks ago. Mrs. Stephens will be remembered as Miss Oneida Treider, one of the prettiest ladies among the deaf in Chicago and vicinity.

The members of the Chicago M. E. Mission gave a pleasant social at the home of Miss Cora Jacoba recently.

Mrs. Samuel Norris and little boy took in an excursion to Jacksonville, and visited her old friend, Mrs. D. W. George and family, this week.

Mr. A. Jesse Waterman came home from Michigan last week, and looks sound and hearty.

The school committee of the Pas-a-Pas Club was present at the meeting of the Board of Education Monday night. Important business was discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Corey, of St. Louis, are in the city. They are boarding at the Menaugh, in Morgan Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Baird moved back to La Salle, their former home, two weeks ago.

The Chicago Division No. 1, F. S. D., has secured the Pas-a-Pas Club rooms, No. 77 Clark Street, for their headquarters during the convention of the Fraternal Society of the Deaf, July 1st to 3d inclusive.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fraser, of Fernwood, were in New Buffalo, Mich., to visit Mrs. Heinlein, on May 30th.

Mrs. H. Lef is now visiting Mrs. Heinlein in New Buffalo.

The Rev. A. W. Mann will conduct services Sunday, June 28th, at 10:45 A.M. and 3 P.M., at the Parish House of Trinity Church, on 26th Street, near Michigan Avenue.

The deaf-mutes of Milwaukee want to play a friendly game of base ball at their picnic grounds on July 4th, with a team from the Pas-a-Pas Club, and they to play a return game at the latter's picnic, July 25th.

Mrs. W. D. Edwards was tendered a birthday surprise party by her friends, at her home, Saturday evening. Refreshments and ice cream were served. Mrs. Edwards received many presents and among them was a dining table from her husband.

Messrs. Conrad W. Billenbeck and Fred Mather, of Peoria, Ill., were visitors to the Windy City, recently.

Miss Buchanan's mother visited her in this city recently, returning to her home in Cincinnati last week. Miss Buchanan is living with Mr. and Mrs. Berlein.

Miss Grace Knight left for St. Joseph, Mich., by boat last Sunday evening, and she will visit several points in that State for one month.

Mr., or rather Professor, Albert Berg, will spend the summer in the Windy City.

Ladies gave a surprise to Mrs. Charles Kessler, last Thursday afternoon, and found her at her laundry work, with a dust cap on and sleeves rolled up.

Mr. James Gibney received a visit from his aged father last week.

Mrs. Samuel Norris and her son, John, returned home Monday, after spending a few days in Jacksonville.

M. Theodore S. Rose returned to New York recently, after attending the wedding of his niece in this city.

Rev. P. J. Hasenstab conducted services last Sunday morning in Council Bluffs, and in the afternoon at Omaha.

You will be arrested if you don't come to the wigwam party, Saturday evening, June 20th. That is the official order of Mrs. Hasenstab. Now, let us come to the party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hunter, 56 Best Avenue, in order to avoid being arrested.

Messrs. Julius Kraft and S. Jacobs, of Joliet, Ill., paid a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Colby last week. Mr. Kraft bought a wooden swing for his children. He has added one story to his cottage, and made many improvements on the property recently.

Mrs. Charles Kessler's father is visiting her this week from Joliet.

A surprise party was given at Mr. and Mrs. Gus Reinke's home, by their friends, in honor of the latter, last Saturday evening.

Mr. Henry Freeman has gone to Escamaba, Mich., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Root will leave for Michigan City on Friday of this week, for a few days.

Mr. William Gracey, who came from Ireland eighteen months ago, was in Chicago last Sunday, coming on an excursion train from Ohio. He lives with his brother, who is in the bakery business at Fostoria, O.

Mr. Avery Van Emon returned to Columbus last week after a few days' stay in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bowes have moved to 968 Walnut Street.

Mrs. Rose Jackson, aunt of Abe Himmelschein, has gone to Europe for six months.

Mrs. Mary Simpson stopped over one day in Chicago, while on her way to Michigan for the summer, from Sioux Falls, Dakota.

Deaconess Smith and Miss Cora Jacoba are at the camp meeting in New Lenox, this week.

The Literary Circle will meet at the club rooms Saturday evening, June 27th. Mr. George T. Dougherty will deliver a lecture.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE.

The End of the 39th Collegiate Year.

FOOT BALL SCHEDULE.

The Faculty Tennis Team Win the Championship -- Other Notes.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Before this issue of the JOURNAL reaches its readers, examinations will be over, the graduating class will have received their degrees, the majority of the undergraduates will be en route to their homes, and the thirty-ninth collegiate year will be a thing of the past. Besides the graduating class, this will be the final ex-empt to about a half dozen undergraduates, on account of delinquencies in their studies. The number of new students admitted to next year's Introductory Class, so far as we can learn, is thirty, and this will make the total number of undergraduates for next September practically the same as it was last Fall. Only one of the new students has been admitted to the Freshmen Class so far.

Drake, '04, to whom we bequeath the editor's shoes, will do all the major domo stunts next Fall. Besides being editor of the Buff and Blue, he will look after the football team as manager. The football schedule as announced by him, we give here:

Sept. 26—Lafayette, at Easton, Pa.
Oct. 3—Western Maryland, at home.
10—Steeleton Y. M. C. A., Steeleton, Pa.
14—Naval Academy, Annapolis.
17—University of Maryland, Baltimore.
24—Open.
28—Fredericksburg College, at home.
31—St. John's College, at home.
Nov. 7—Villa Nova, Philadelphia.
14—Open.
21—Georgetown, at Georgetown.
26—Mt. St. Marys, Frederick, Md.

The tennis tournament between the classes ended in a tie between the three upper classes. Saturday the 13th, the Faculty team, composed of Professor Ely and Mr. Allan Fay defeated the College team composed of Hewitson, '03 and Phelps, '05, and for another year at least, the championship of Kendall Green, will be retained by the Faculty.

Mr. Samuel Watson, Principal of the Sydney, New South Wales (Australia) School for the Deaf and Blind, was a caller here Saturday, and several of the students had the pleasure of being introduced to him by President Gallaudet. He is on a short visit to several of the Eastern Schools for the Deaf, previous to sailing for England next week.

Flick, '03, will locate in Denver, Colorado, where he expects to hang up his shingle as chemist and assayer. Another victim of the "Go West" fever is Roberts, '04, who expects to go to Denver, where he hopes his training as an associate editor of the Buff and Blue staff will enable him to "get a lift" with one of the big lads out there.

Misses Weidenmeier, '04, and Hall, '05, gave a farewell surprise party to Miss Fitzgerald, '03, Saturday evening, the 13th. A large number of friends attended, and a pleasant time was had by all.

Misses Finch and Bearsley, teachers in the North Dakota School for the Deaf, are visitors here until the close of college. Miss Finch was formerly a member of the class of 1903.

Professor Hotchkiss and family, Instructor Gaw and family, and Misses Goldstein and Dickson, '07, are going to spend the Summer at Stony Lake, Canada.

Hewitson, '03, expects to enter Cornell University next September.

PETER T. HUGHES.

NOTICE.

The venerable Archdeacon of Ohio, the Rev. Dr. Abbott, and the Rev. Austin W. Mann, General Missionary, will begin another joint missionary tour through a portion of the Toledo Convocation on June 19th, at Trinity Church, Upper Sandusky. From there they will proceed westward, taking in the churches and missions at Toledo, Defiance, Napoleon and Bryan. Taking leave of the Archdeacon at the latter point, the Rev. Mr. Mann will hasten to Chicago to fill appointments at All Angels' Mission, on the 28th. The two clergymen became acquainted many years ago when Dr. Abbott was Dean of the Cathedral at Faribault, Minn.

The Pupils at the Family Hearth

SIX FOR COLLEGE.

Numerous Notes.

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 926 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

School is out and Ohio's deaf boys and girls are back in the bosoms of their families for the next three months, and may they all have a pleasant vacation.

Examinations were held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Tuesday forenoon promotion cards were handed out to those entitled to them by the teachers of the respective classes, and at 11:45 school exercises were at an end for the session.

The packing of trunks had begun Friday and the work of marking and checking them to their proper designations by the supervisors, Messrs. Becker and Ohlemacher, was completed by Tuesday noon. In the afternoon the Transfer company hauled them off to the depot. Wednesday morning the pupils followed them. As far as can be learned, all reached their homes in safety. It is a big job ticketing 500 pupils to their proper designations, and looking after all the little details that go with it. Each pupil, after entering the bus was provided with a lunch put up in a paper bag, so none had occasion to reach home hungry.

The High School class, or most of it, were battling with college examinations last week. Messrs. Hinch and Hovestick taking those for the Freshman entrance, while six of the young ladies took the Introductory.

Chionian Society had its annual closing exercises Saturday evening, consisting of a valedictory address by the president, and a response by one of the members, after which there was a social in the halls and library. Refreshments—ice cream, cake, strawberries and lemonade were on sale in the dining room, from which the Society cleared $13.90. The proceeds go to the Home.

Rev. A. W. Mann conducted a service Sunday morning at Trinity Church, and in the afternoon he preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class. Being out of town we were unable to be present.

There was a good crowd of out-of-town deaf visitors Sunday. Cincinnati furnished Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellerhardt, Miss Margaret Innis, Miss Herzog, and Messrs. Frank Herzog, George McQuaid, Wm. O'Donnell, C. L. Clancy and Dr. O'Brien. From Akron came Messrs. Henry Schreiner, F. Philpott, J. W. Powell, M. J. Grimm, and John B. Benedict. Alonzo Kingry was over from Grove City, as were also Mrs. and Miss Bessie McGregor.

Another old lady was added to the Home last Sunday, Mrs. Adelia Dorothy Grimm, of Akron, O., and her age is 87. She was educated at the New York School for the Deaf, coming from Le Royville, Jefferson County. Her maiden name was Millot. Her husband is dead. She has one son, who has been supporting her.

The graduating exercises of the Columbus High Schools occurred Friday afternoon, at the Goodale Street Auditorium. There were 150 graduates. Among those who received diplomas were Majorie McPherson Jones, daughter of Superintendent Jones; Jeanette McGregor, daughter of Mr. R. P. McGregor; and Frances Gildersleeve Patterson, daughter of Principal Patterson. The trio will enter Ohio State University in the fall.

Mr. A. H. Schory, besides having a little son laid up with a broken leg, has had his ears increased by the sickness of Mrs. Schory. She was seized Tuesday with what threatens to be pneumonia. Her mother was telegraphed for and arrived Thursday. We hope her case will not prove serious.

Mr. Lycurgus Waugh, a bricklayer by occupation, was here Sunday from Charleston, to visit his friends.

Mr. Carroll Harmon, of Charleston, West Va., came to Columbus two weeks ago and secured employment in the Wolfe Bros. shoe factory.

Another June wedding is to come off next week. Here is the announcement:

Mr. Thomas McRedmond requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of his sister Isabella M.

to Mr. John C. Miller Tuesday morning, June Sixteenth, nineteen hundred and three at eight-thirty o'clock St. Patrick's Church

At home in Tippecanoe City, Ohio

Miss Nora Patterson has gone to Cleveland for a month's visit with her brother.

Mr. Rion Hoel, of Kildere Farm, is having a visit from his sister, Mrs. Miller, and her three children, of Tonawanda, N. Y. June 13, '03. A. B. G.

WESTERN NEW YORK.

Mr. Otto Paulitz, who lived with his wife and two small children, at No. 25 Ash Street, Buffalo, was killed by a Wabash train at the Genesee Street crossing of the Erie Railroad, on Wednesday, June 3d. His body was hurled 150 feet, and death was instantaneous. His body lay in the public morgue awaiting identification for some time. The funeral will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Dantzer from the home of his father-in-law, at No. 1292 Lovejoy Street, next Sunday, at 2 P.M. Mr. Paulitz was a German, and received a partial education before coming to this country. Mrs. Paulitz, the wife, was formerly Miss Amelia Fleischhauer, a graduate of the Rochester School.

Miss Cecilia Cornue, one of Buffalo's charming young women, shows a good deal of versatility. Among her latest moves is the opening of a store on Oak Street, near Virginia. As Miss Cornue has some hearing, it will not be difficult for her to run the store unaided.

Mr. Hainline expects to give his promised lecture before the De Sales Society, before it closes for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMann, of New York, have been in Buffalo, on their bridal trip. They left by boat for Cleveland and Detroit, to visit relatives, expecting to be back in Buffalo by Sunday, June 14th.

Dr. Evangeline and Miss Rose Carroll, sister of "M. A. C.," expect to sail for Europe, June 25th.

A seven and a quarter pound boy came to gladden the hearts and home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wackerman, of Rochester, on the morning of June 10th. All doing well. On the same day, at eight o'clock in the evening, Rev. Mr. Dantzer united Miss Lulu Wackerman and Charles Critchley, at the home of the bride's parents, No. 29 Madison Street, Rochester. The best man was Mr. W. F. Wackerman, a brother of the bride, and the bridesmaid was Mrs. John Leary, a sister of the groom. The bride was beautifully dressed in white, and carried pink roses, while the groom was dressed in conventional black. Only immediate relatives were present. Many beautiful and costly presents were received.

Amidst showers of rice, old shoes etc, the happy couple left for a short trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

A very successful Strawberry festival was held in St. Luke's Parish House, Rochester, Thursday evening, June 11th, by the Ladies' Aid Society. Attendance was over thirty-five. A number of very interesting games were played. The committee of arrangements were Mrs. Geo. Davis, Mrs. John Francis and Mrs. W. S. Gibbs.

The closing exercises of the Rochester Deaf-Mute School were held at 11 o'clock this morning. There were six graduates—5 girls and 1 boy. The programme of the exercises were as follows:

Prayer.....Rev. R. R. Converse, D.D.
Welcome.....
Dr. Z. F. Westervelt, Superintendent.
Salutatory—Theodore Roosevelt, an Ideal American.....
.....Arthur Jay North, Elbridge, N. Y.
The Vision of Sir Launfal.....
.....Nelly Jane Smith, Castile, N. Y.
Trifles.....
Rutha Luella Curtiss, Rock Stream, N. Y.
The Home Life of Queen Victoria.....
.....Bertha Pauline Flynn, Newark, N. Y.
Charity in the Home.....
.....Esther Eugenie Perry, Olean, N. Y.
Valedictory—The Value of Higher Education to the Deaf.....
.....Olga Alma Crane, Geneva, N. Y.
Address and Presentation of Diplomas.
Dr. S. A. Lattimore, President of the Board Trustees.
Prayer and Benediction.....
.....Rev. George D. Miller.

At the close of the exercises by the graduates, Dr. S. A. Lattimore, the President of the Board of Trustees, and also a Professor in the University of Rochester, announced that Mr. Clayton McLaughlin, a graduate of the school, in the class of 1898, and a member of the class of 1903, University of Rochester had been appointed a teacher in the school to take the place made vacant by the death of Miss Hopeman. He spoke very highly of the scholarship of the young man.

Many former pupils and others were at the exercises. Among those noted were Mr. C. A. Smith, of Akron, Misses Maude Caldwell, of Medina, Emma Keyes, of East Rush, Daisy McChesney, of Batavia, M. A. Carroll, of Buffalo, and Mrs. C. B. Shattuck, of Cohocton.

Mr. Angus Kowald, of Buffalo, is visiting Rev. Mr. Dantzer.

ROCHESTER, June 12, '03.

Wise men ne'er sit and wail their loss, but cheerily seek how to redress their harm.

Institution For The Deaf And Dumb.

The dedicatory services of the new building of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, located in Edgewood in this vicinity, took place on Thursday, the 14th inst. The opening address was made by Dr. John G. Brown, president of the Board of Trustees. The dedicatory prayer was offered by Dr. J. C. White, of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Addresses were delivered by Dr. W. L. McEwan, of the Third Presbyterian Church, and Mr. John B. Jackson, of the Board of Trustees. There was also quite an interesting procession of the pupils. A large number of prominent people were present, and were much interested in the exercises.

There are three distinct buildings fifty feet apart and connected by corridors. The idea in separating the buildings is to prevent the spread of fire. They are all fire proof as far as possible. Including the corridors they are three hundred feet in length and two hundred and fourteen feet in depth. They are three stories in height above the basement. The basement is of sand stone. The structure is of selected brick laid in white mortar with terra cotta ornaments. There is a building in the rear one hundred by forty-eight feet, in which is the primary department, also connected by corridor. They are all substantial, well lighted, well ventilated, well arranged buildings, and will compare favorably with like buildings in the United States or elsewhere.

The buildings were put up to take the place of the one destroyed by fire three years ago. There are class rooms, dormitories and everything necessary to accommodate three hundred pupils. Two hundred and sixteen pupils are there at present. There would have been a larger attendance if the means had been provided to sustain them.

The entire cost of the buildings is $300,000; $87,000 are the insurance of the old building, $57,000 were subscribed by benevolent citizens of Pittsburgh and vicinity, and two years ago the State gave $50,000. More than $8,000 were raised in other ways, making in all $201,000, and leaving a balance of $99,000, which is a debt resting on the school. Last winter application was made to the legislature for $50,000, which was refused. The legislature, however, provided liberally for the education and maintenance of the pupils in the future, and the school, when it opens in September, will be ready to receive all who apply.

The school is intended for the deaf and dumb in all the counties of Western Pennsylvania. The object is to give a good school education, and the rudiments of some trade, that the pupils may have preparation in a measure for self-support when they leave the school.—The United Presbyterian of May 21st.
